Transitional Relief

A scheme to limit the increases or decreases in business rates arising from revaluations in order to phase in changes over a period of time. Annual increases or decreases in the amount payable by a ratepayer are restricted to percentages that are set down in law.

As part of the transitional relief scheme, the VOA issues Transitional Relief certificates.

The 2010 rating list is now closed and appeals can only be made in limited circumstances.

An appeal can be made:

- no later than 30 September 2017 when citing a decision of a Valuation Tribunal, or higher court
- or
- within 6 months of a Valuation Office Agency (VOA) 'notice of alteration'
