

108 Peppard Road Emmer Green

Planning application ref 182100

Main body of house viewed from the front. The owners want to break up the white rendered appearance (which is a bit drab).

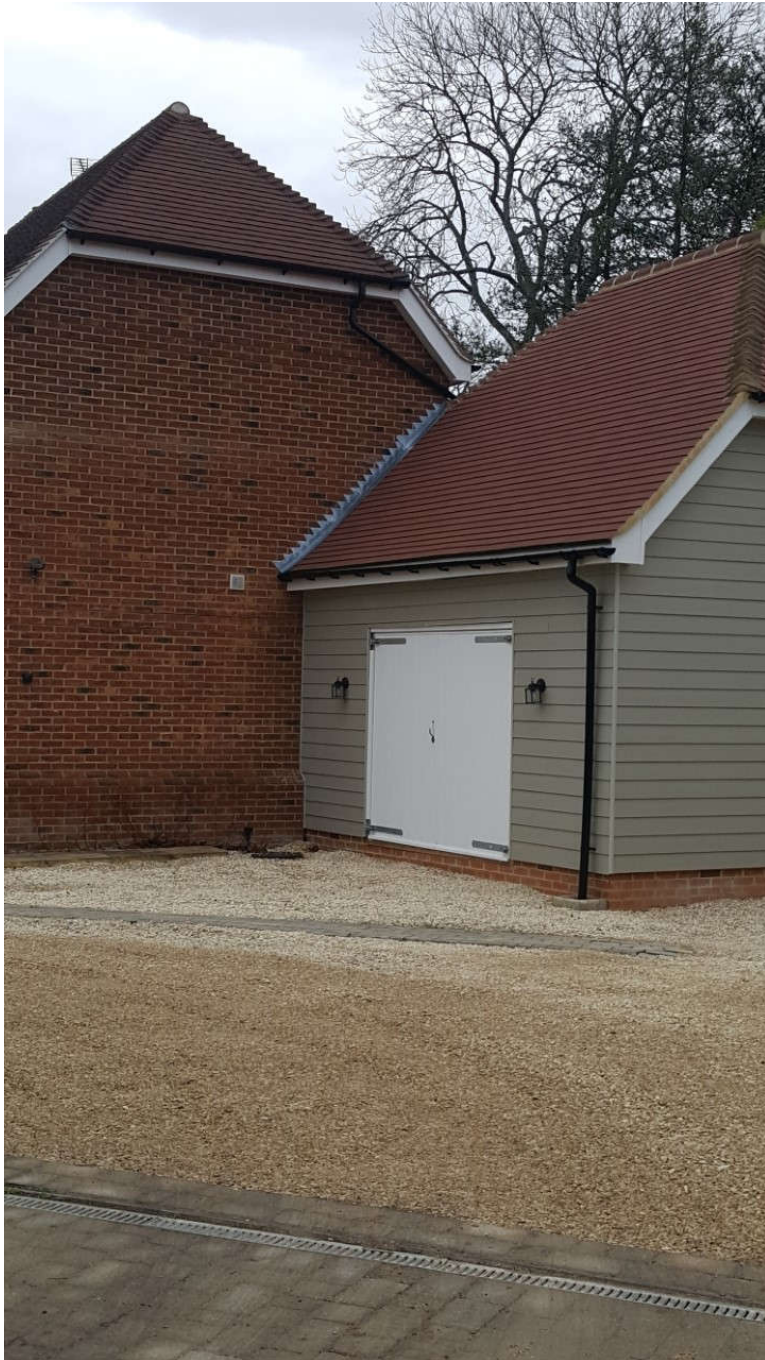

The proposal is that the weatherboarding will provide contrast but be painted same colour as current windows & doors

Another view – the garage (which has been converted to living accommodation) also has a rendered, painted white, appearance.

A recent outbuilding (built elsewhere) which the owner of No. 108 Peppard Road, Ben Combridge, has helped in building. This shows the type & standard of weatherboarding proposed.

This shows a contrast between (in this case) brickwork & a painted weatherboarded garage.

And similarly a black painted weatherboarded finish attached to a white rendered cottage – again showing the sort of contrast we are trying to achieve.
