

Neighbourhood Garden Plan

The Neighbourhood Garden provides a great range of facilities for residents, but is also a garden for the local community, with step free access direct from Crossland Road. There is good visibility into the garden from the street and the change in level is modelled as playable landscape.

Neighbourhood Garden Section

This section shows the Neighbourhood Garden. This is a communal garden for both residents and the public. It is intended as a highly active, mixed use, playable landscape, opening out from internal shared spaces wherever possible. Therefore the design is being developed in close collaboration with the interior design.

- Publicly accessible, step-free access edged by 1100mm high railings and gates to the Crossland Road boundary.
- Edged by 1100mm high railings, without a hedge, forming a visually permeable, increasing casual surveillance into the garden.
- Socialising spaces connecting to interior room uses, with kitchen terrace and barbeque.
- Playable landscape features integrated into level changes and enclosing spaces.
- Co-working spaces opening out to garden terrace seating areas.
- Raised planters for local community use for growing food, herbs and fruit.
- Tree species and locations carefully considered to reflect microclimatic conditions and screening functions.
